This unit belonged to a Notional Rental Fleet company. Was told that the machine was fully operational until company decided to stop renting out boring machines. The unit was then parked and hadn't been ran since about 2 years ago. this unit will crank off of starting fluid but will not keep running on its own, we were unable to test the full operation of this unit, the seat is in rough shape, unit does have surface rust where the paint is down to the bare metal, come check this unit out for yourself!!!
